Product description

The VALECO is a modern, aerodynamic and perfectly ventilated helmet, weighing only about 30 grams more than its bigger brother, HJC's Ibex. The helmet's 12 vents will keep you cool in any situation, from spring classics to hot climbs in the Alps during the summer season.

The new Valeco combines various advanced technologies developed for other models to offer the best possible experience in terms of safety, ventilation, comfort and design. The helmet is also equipped with more classic features such as an adjustable occipital cradle, goggle mounts, strap splitters and X-Static anti-microbial pads.

This helmet comes with a bag to protect the helmet when you take it with you.

HJC helmets are tested in the lab as well as in the "real world" to meet the highest quality standards. HJC is one of the few helmet companies that has its own state-of-the-art laboratory with a wind tunnel for testing aerodynamics, ventilation, noise and more.
