Technologies

ABUS level system

Bicycle locks can have very different requirements. The two main aspects are the bike and where you want to lock it. The weight of the lock also plays an important role - a lock for the road cannot be too heavy, unlike a lock for the house. The ABUS Level System is a clear system that reflects the security level of the lock. The scale - shown as a speedometer - reaches level 15 for bicycle locks, making it easy to find the right lock for you and your bike!
